Two local boys hold Art Show and Silent Auction Fundraising event in Support of Orphan Grain Train, Maryland Branch

Trey Colburn (9) and his brother Travis (6) have been giving away their toys and clothes to Orphan Grain Train for as long as they can remember. Recently, they decided to step it up a notch and hold an Art Show and Silent Auction of 10 pieces of their favorite artworks. With a little help, they framed all the pieces and invited friends and family to participate.

The turnout was great and the bidding got quite competitive! Together, Trey and Travis raised $50 to donate to the Maryland Orphan Grain Train Warehouse project.

They plan to make this an annual event and open it up to other budding artists next year! We are very proud of Trey and Travis for their generosity and compassion for those less fortunate.
